

BY TOM CASADAY, COUNTY EXTENSION CHAIRMAN

ESTATES AND WILLS
Many people work hard for their entire lifetime, are successful, and then make a failure of closing out their estate. Dr. Julian Holmes, one of our farm management specialists, said this in a recent county visit. Holmes works statewide and has first-hand knowledge of the costly mistakes that a lot of farmers and others are making in transferring their property to their heirs.

This winter we hope to develop a short course especially for farmers—and for others—designed to prevent mistakes of this type. But don't wait on this short course. If you feel you should make plans for your estate, by all means go ahead and contact a lawyer and begin preparations for transferring your estate. So many things are involved in including taxes, legal aspects and others. Incidentally, we plan to invite some of our local attorneys to participate in the short course.

Weather reports
Mrs. Clyde Jackson, who lives on the Damasco Road, has an interesting job. She does not get any pay. However, every morning she reads delicate instruments placed at her home by the National Weather Service. Immediately after reading them, usually about 7:15, the National Weather Service calls her and she gives the atmospheric temperature plus the soil temperature and the amount of rainfall during the past twenty-four hours. They give her the weather forecast for the next twenty-four hours.

Harris Moten kept this record about seven years. However, he could not continue because of the demands of his broiler and beef cattle programs. Mrs. Jackson took over the weather report in February. In addition to the daily report, she sends in monthly tapes to the National Oceanic and Geographic Department. They placed some real sophisticated equipment at her home for use in copy of the Wiregrass Polled Hereford Association spring sale catalog. This sale was held recently in the Bay Springs community in Houston County. Mrs. Taylor proudly pointed out that four of the consignors to this sale were Coffee County producers—L. A. Bond, IV, of New Brockton, James H. Hudson of Elba, Foy Reeves of Elba, and her husband W. H. Taylor.

Join Mrs. Taylor in saluting these breeders. In the final outcome, it is going to mean that our people in Coffee County and throughout the area will have improved breeding stock for their herds.

LITTLE LEAGUERS
PLAY BALL
By: Faye Holliday
At 5:30 p.m. on May 10, the first Little League game of the season was scheduled. At 5:30 p.m. on May 10, the first Little League game of the season was begun.

During that hour, parents, kids, interested on-lookers, and Little Leaguers bussed themselves in one way or another while the fencing behind home plate was completed. The small players practiced their pitching and catching. They paraded back and forth in front of the bleachers, visiting the concession stand quite often, bringing out drinks, cups of ice, candy bars, etc. If they kept eating.

Thoughts of parents soon became evident with comments like "I could have worked some more." "Don't tell me we're going to have to wait till they put up all that wire." And they're going to play three games!

Right away my son said he was for the Astros, "cause they're good." But, as we waited for the Astros and their opponents, the Pirates, the Western team got too much for my daughter. The Astros, the Pirates, and the Western team got too much for my daughter. The Astros, the Pirates, and the Western team got too much for my daughter.

A small fry, 3 or 4 years old, decked out completely in baseball outfit, seemed in the middle of all the delay as he came and went about his business—the business that only three-and-four-year-olds know about—that constant action and a few days ago she sent me a

As the completion of the fence slowly neared the end, it became apparent that all games would take a while, and I commented "We're going home after the first game." "Oh, why can't we see them all," wailed my son. And he informed me later that when his team plays first, we're going to stay and see the rest of the games. I have heard and I am prepared.

I could just see us sitting there when the moon came up and we were—and I could just see my unashed sheets lying there unwashed still—and those blacked peas I'd planned to cook for supper would have to give way to hot dogs. (As it turned out, the hot dogs didn't even make it—so-called leftovers—plus a can of pineapple.)

Soon the nearby woods had cast their long tree shadows across the field, bathing audience and players alike in their refreshing woody smell. At last—"Teams, get out into the field," instructed the voice into the loudspeaker—and "the game was on."

One by one, the team members took their places—and each had his chance to bat. And I could imagine what tired, sleepy little boys lounged around in class next day. But, come next game or next practice—and they're right back in their places.

And, I'm sure the Pirates will win some, too—and I can be sure they'll have to wait till they put up all that wire." And they're going to play three games!

The solid wall of fellow players on the bleachers kept us entertained for a long time. The Astros, the Pirates, and the Western team got too much for my daughter. The Astros, the Pirates, and the Western team got too much for my daughter.

some of the time sitting with my son, and he also bragged on a particular batter for "having a good eye", and telling him, "way to watch—way to watch." "You know why I'm for the Astros?" he asked of my son—and before he got the question out, thousands of "A's" came tumbling out. "Yeah," replied the first.

But the Pirates did have voters—among them my daughter and her friend, who had a brother on that team. And, it just wasn't a good idea for my son and daughter to sit near each other and root for opposing teams—for a "tump" on the head and some sharp words were exchanged quickly.

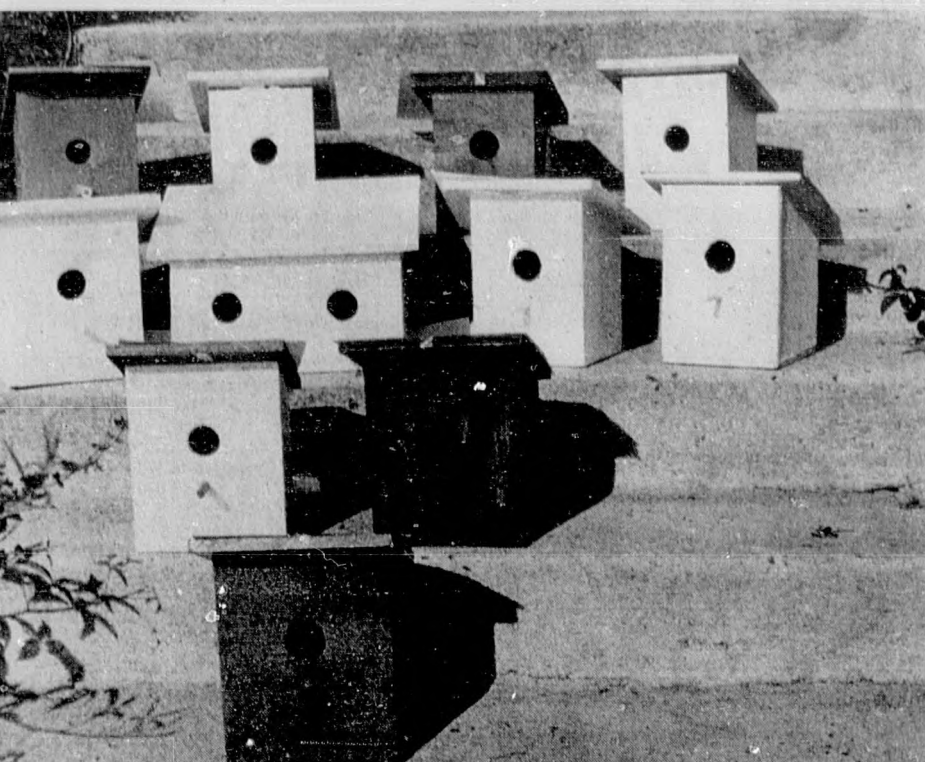

The umpire got scorned, too, as someone from the stands shouted, "You're crazy." For answer, the ump just turned and smiled calmly and knowingly through his mask.

The Astros were favored again, as, about half-way through the game, another team player came up and offered his candid opinion—"Astros done beat us."

But the underdog Pirates had done worthily by the end of the third inning, as the Astros had by only 7-6. They fell further back, however, and the final score after 6 innings stopped at—Astros—17—Pirates—7.

I am told the last game was played on May 11, and I can be sure they'll have to wait till they put up all that wire." And they're going to play three games!

84-Year-Old Former Elba Resident Still Active
Mrs. Annie Britt is 84 years old—still active, still sewing, still an expert in crocheted embroidery.

This former resident of Coffee County, who raised her family in the Curtis Community, is also a former farmer, teacher, and musician, who taught piano during the Depression years for a number of years. She once headed a U. S. Government program, has a sister 83, a brother 86, and remembers courting in a fancy, bar-tired, buggy. She has been an amputee for 53 years.

Mrs. Britt remembers well her father, who was a Civil War veteran, farmer, shoemaker, blacksmith and buggy builder. She was the youngest of 16 children, raised on a corn-cotton farm near Alexander City, Alabama. She left the farm at the age of 17 to become a teacher in Tallapoosa County. It was there she met her husband.

They'd been married seven years and had three children when Mrs. Britt, who'd suffered a bone infection since age 12, had her right leg amputated above the knee. And, she continued working full time raising a farm family in Coffee County.

In August 1963, lightning set fire to her home and everything they owned was lost. They went to Pensacola to live with their youngest son, and it was there Mr. Britt died in 1969. Mrs. Britt had also lost her oldest son before that, but she had many interests in life—her other children, hobbies, religious work and memories—memories of taking music lessons at a conservatory, becoming a church pianist, seeing her first automobile and airplane. She also remembers the Depression days when the hungry, tired and sick came to the haven of her home.

Mrs. Britt still remembers two or three Bible verses a week and writes newsy letters to her children and grandchildren. Her five living children are Earl, Roger, Leon, Tommy and Margaret Ann.

Hammer was well pleased with the selected site near the Elba airport. This property is already owned by the city and is ready for transfer to the National Guard when needed, according to Mayor Jack Brunson.

There are only 15 of the old WPA armories left in Alabama according to Hammer and all of them should be replaced by the end of fiscal year 1975 which begins in July 1974.

However, in the past Elba has been "next on the list" or second on the list, only to move down because "someone else needed it worse than Elba."

Set Albert Reeves of the local National Guard notes that the unit can't keep their 105 self-propelled guns on the present site and also be noted that when the new armory is built, the old facility will revert back to the city as agreed in the original deed.

HOLLEY'S RESTAURANT

The Pastor's Corner
REV EDWIN R. SELLS

Often the things that seem to be the most insignificant may prove to be just the opposite. I am thinking today of the habit of saying grace before meals. Do you say your blessings say grace, or return thanks before eating? Many of you were raised in a home where grace was said and perhaps some of you have gotten away from this practice. It is a most worthy practice for your home and for your personal spiritual growth and witness. Several years ago my family and I were on vacation and stopped to eat lunch in a restaurant. Soon after we were seated and placed our order another family with small children were seated near our table. Our food was served first and we bowed our heads as is our custom, and prayed a brief prayer of gratitude. I did not know that the children at the nearby table were observing us until their food arrived and the father began eating. One of the small boys asked his father if he wasn't going to say the blessing. The father tried to play down the son's remark by telling him that they were in a restaurant and the reply the son gave his father was, "Those people over there did" as he looked our way. With that the father bowed his head and the family said their blessing. One could tell that the family was accustomed to saying their blessing at home. Is not this a great witness to others who may need the support of a fellow Christian family? Why are we ashamed to say grace in a public place? I have even noticed the respect that fellow diners have for you as you pray. There seems to come a hush around you. Some funny things happen too! I once raised my head from saying grace to find the waitress standing beside me looking at my plate saying, "Is there something wrong sir?"

Yes, table grace may seem juvenile and insignificant to you but it may be the very thing that influences one near you to start down a trail of discipline that he once knew. Never take your witness for granted. Count your many blessings, name them one by one at home and wherever you are.

Medicare Available

To More People

Starting July 1, people 65 and over who haven't been able to get Medicare hospital insurance before may be eligible. They can apply for the protection now according to Ted A. Gamble, social security district manager in Dothan.

"Previously, to get Medicare hospital insurance, you had to be 65 or over and either eligible for social security payments or have a certain amount of social security work credit," Gamble said.

"Under recent amendments to the social security law, people 65 or over who were not eligible before may now purchase Medicare hospital insurance protection. To get this protection, however they must also sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare."

"This new provision is designed to extend hospital insurance coverage to people 65 or over who have little or no work credit under social security and are able to get comparable insurance through private companies," Gamble said.

The initial premium for hospital insurance will be $33 a month plus $6.00 a month for medical insurance. "The protection will begin July 1, 1973, for people who sign up before June 1."

This year you can sign up as late as August 1, he said.

"If you delay past May 1, though, coverage will begin later. If you delay past August 31, you can sign up in the first 3 months of any year."

Medical insurance helps pay for hospital bills and many other related expenses.

The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay doctor bills and many medical expenses not covered by the hospital insurance.

Starting in July, Medicare will also be extended to workers under 65 who have been getting monthly disability payments from social security or railroad retirement for 2 years or more -- and to people with chronic kidney disease.

For more information contact your Social Security office. The Dothan Office is located in the Federal Building, 100 West Troy Highway. The telephone number is 794-3161.

Dear Mr. Cox:
It is a privilege for me to congratulate the 1973 high school graduates. This is the most exciting period in the history of mankind. It is the most challenging and yet the most dangerous period in the history of civilization. It is a paradoxical that we have the most goods and services and that we have the most opportunities and yet we have the potential for greatest harm to ourselves and to our fellow man. As we face the future we shall set our goals and strive to reach them. The wise choice of our goals in life is tremendously important. There are those people who seem to have no worthy objectives in life. They will drift and their lives will be wrecked. It is a tragedy to see human potential squandered. Drugs, alcohol, immorality and laziness are scourges which will destroy a person and make him a problem to society rather than a contributor to the common good. Establish high ideals and strive to reach them and in the process, happiness will be achieved. Knowledge and the application of new techniques of doing things are increasing at a rapid rate. The wise individual who lives in this age will study continuously and make improvements in himself. He will not stop studying and learning on graduation day, but he should exert every effort to improve himself with each passing day. Earning a living and living an abundant life are two things which every high school graduate should be able to accomplish. I have great faith in the ability and the wisdom of the young people in this generation and I congratulate each high school graduate and wish for your success and happiness. Sincerely yours,
State Superintendent of Education

Greetings To Seniors

From Mrs. McMinn

To: Elba High School Graduates

Greetings and Congratulations! You are about to take a giant step into the stage of life commonly known as adulthood. For many training, for others it means employment, marriage, travel or perhaps military service, but for all of you it means the beginning of a more responsible role. I hope you will assume this role with all the enthusiasm which you now have and that you will be able to hold on to these qualifications as they are so vital in maintaining a "balance" in our complex society. I hope that you will devote your energy to constructive pursuits and that you will have fortitude, tolerance and understanding which you will enable your generation through out the world to live together in a true sense of brotherhood.

Mr. John F. Cox
Editor - Publisher
Elba, Alabama 36323

Dear Mr. Cox:
I want to thank you for giving me this opportunity to extend my most sincere congratulations to the graduates of Elba, Zion, Chapel, New Brockton and Kinston High Schools.

It is my hope that these young men and women will not consider this the end of their education, but only another step. Some will go on to college, others to technical schools and still others will go immediately into a job. But no matter what route is taken, each one should know that the learning process is never ended.

The path to the future lies open ahead and the future is what today's graduates make of it. The single most important quality that today's graduates can offer Coffee County, Alabama and our Country is leadership.

In the community, the church, civic groups, public office and in every aspect of life. Our country needs young men and women who are not afraid to get into the traces and help pull the load.

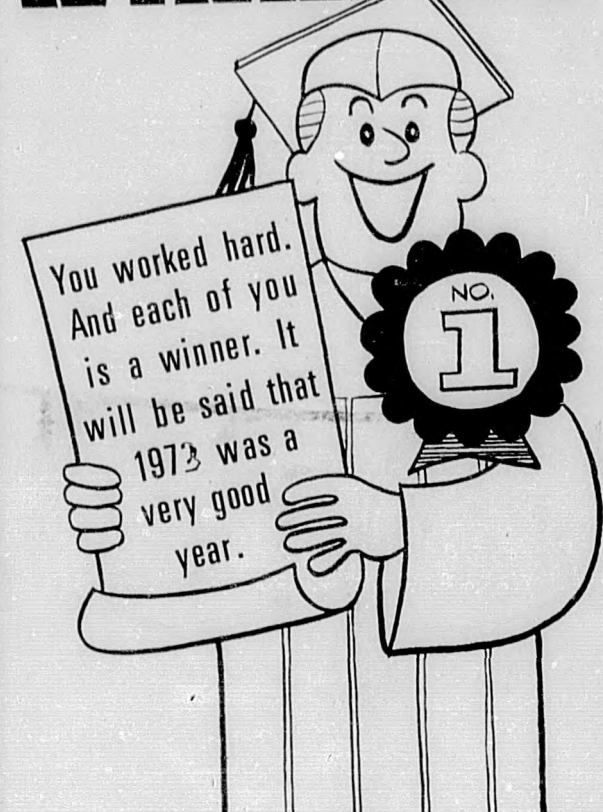

I am confident that young Alabamians now graduating will be among those Americans who will help surmount the obstacles and gain peace, happiness and prosperity for themselves, their families and their country. With very best wishes for your success, I am sincerely yours,
James B. Allen

May 11, 1973

Dear Seniors

It is with great pride and pleasure that I extend my congratulations to the graduating seniors of '73.

Graduation is a time of extreme happiness mingled with sadness as friends go their separate ways and the familiar routine of school gives way to college, work marriage and new friends and new experiences. I trust that the future will be bright for each of you.

All of us in Alabama are proud of our youth and the interest and involvement you have in the affairs in your community and state. We welcome each of you to join with us in working to make a better state and nation. One of you involved in a positive way to work for the betterment of society is worth 500 with us in working to make this state a better place.

AU Lab To Test Soil Samples

The Auburn University Soil Testing Lab is offering, on a trial basis, a new service to Alabama farmers, says Tom Casaday, Coffee County Extension chairman. On request, the lab will test soil samples for organic matter content.

The recommended rate of soil applied herbicides, such as Loxor and Sencor, varies with soil organic matter content. So, Casaday says that a test will be run for organic matter to determine the rate of herbicides to use on their individual fields.

In addition to the standard fee of $2 for a soil test, a charge of $1 per sample will be made for testing organic matter.

A complete soil test report listing lime and fertilizer recommendations, plus organic matter content, will be mailed to the farmer.

Casaday points out that soil samples will not be tested for organic matter only, standard soil analysis will also be included.

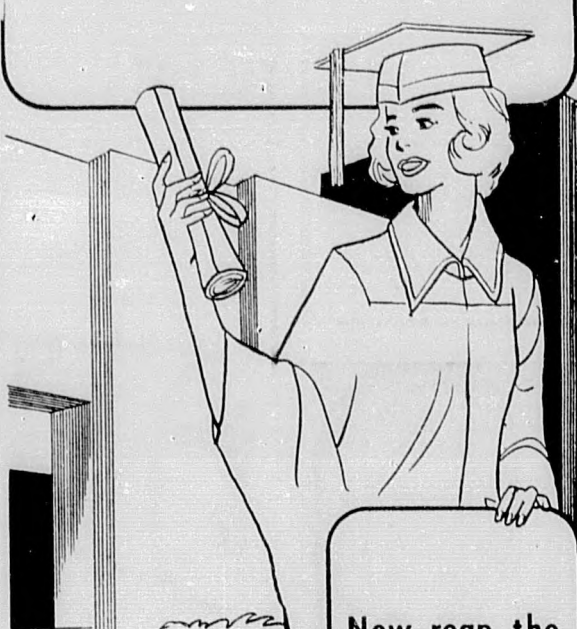

Supplies for soil testing are available at your county extension office.

All these 4-H ers are from the District 4-H Club in Enterprise. Back Row, Senior Division, left to right: Keith Hootch, third place; Elba Action 4-H Club; Terri Olson, second place; Dixiecut 4-H Club; and Cathy Maddox, first place. Zion Chapel 4-H Club, Beverly and Kathy will represent Coffee County in the District Chicken Que Contest in Auburn during June.

Arthur Ashe or Rod Laver to a match to prove his skills. In a recent poll conducted by sportswriters from throughout the South, Alabama and Auburn are picked to finish 1-2 respectively in the Southeastern Conference football race next fall. Ironically, we heard the least enthusiasm from "Bear" Bryant and "Shug" Jordan concerning their teams' spring drills that we have heard in quite a few springs. But if both teams stay healthy, I agree with the writers.

Wasn't it nice to hear old Dixie Dean back on the air on last Monday's ABC baseball game? Ole Dix adds a lot to a telecast, even with his limited vocabulary. With his ever-famous version of The Wabash Cannonball and invention of words like slud (past tense of slide) into third base, he certainly complemented the professional work of Tony Kubek and Curt Gowdy during the game. Though Dean was, according to the network, less than accomplished in TV commenting, it is good for the game to hear a man with his personality work a game every now and then. Perhaps his best story during last Monday's game was one he told in answer to Gowdy's question, "What was the hardest ball hit off you as a pitcher?" In reply, Dean told of a game in which Bill Terry hit a line shot back to him. It was hit so hard that, even though it went through his legs, the center-fielder caught the batter out. Row's that for a hard hit baseball?

Let's give Buddy Windham a hand for some mighty fancy fishing he's been doing recently. Among his catches this spring are an 8-1/2 pound bass caught at the lake at Elba Country Club, and a 1-1/2 pound bluegill, which he caught last week in a pond in North Florida. Jimmy Jacobs also caught an 8-pounder last Sunday at the Country Club lake. Needless to say, we couldn't beg any information as to the technique these fishermen used, only the size and number caught. Maybe I shouldn't add to the publicity the Bobby Riggs is receiving, for his tennis hustling but the situation is getting completely out of hand. Tennis is a very interesting spectator sport, I'll admit. But if Riggs is at the peak of his career, why can't he turn pro and compete with the best of the men players. He has nothing to prove according to most experts. It is agreed among most that the men tennis players are much more powerful and durable than the women, an logical yes. Why is it that Riggs hasn't challenged

The tournament schedule for the summer at Elba Country Club is lined up, with the Junior Boys getting the first shot at the trophies. The Junior Club Tournament for members only will be held Tuesday, June 12. Entry fee will be $5.00 which will include lunch and 27 holes of golf. The Men's Invitational is next on the list, to be held on Saturday, June 30. Other tournaments planned at the Club are the Men's Club Championship on July 4 and the Junior Invitational, tentatively set for the last week in July.

Local Youngster

Brings In Big Bream

Phil Hayes was fishing last Wednesday afternoon at Hood Lake, below Sanson, and this is what he came home with. He caught seven of these big-eyes, but "one was too small," so he didn't keep it. The seven fish weighed 7-1/2 lbs. Phil used crickets and a pole.

"Those are the biggest fish I ever caught," he exclaimed, "and my daddy's going to have them mounted."

His daddy went along, too, but "my daddy didn't catch any," said Phil. Phil is the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hayes, III.

HOLLEY'S RESTAURANT

The Pastor's Corner

REV EDWIN R. SELLS

Often the things that seem to be the most insignificant may prove to be just the opposite. I am thinking today of the habit of saying grace before meals. Do you say your blessings say grace, or return thanks before eating? Many of you were raised in a home where grace was said and perhaps some of you have gotten away from this practice. It is a most worthy practice for your home and for your personal spiritual growth and witness. Several years ago my family and I were on vacation and stopped to eat lunch in a restaurant. Soon after we were seated and placed our order another family with small children were seated near our table. Our food was served first and we bowed our heads, as is our custom, and prayed a brief prayer of gratitude. I did not know that the children at the nearby table were observing us until their food arrived and the father began eating. One of the small boys asked his father if he wasn't going to say the blessing. The father tried to play down the son's remark by telling him that they were in a restaurant and the reply the son gave his father was, "Those people over there did". As he looked our way, with that the father bowed his head and the family said their blessing. One could tell that the family was accustomed to saying their blessing at home. Is this a great witness to others who may need the support of a fellow Christian family? Why are we ashamed to say grace in a public place? I have even noticed the respect that fellow diners have for you as you pray. There seems to come a hush around you. I once raised my head from saying grace to find the waitress standing beside me looking at my plate saying, "Is there something wrong sir?"

Yes, table grace may seem juvenile and insignificant to you but it may be the very thing that influences one near you to start down a trail of discipleship that he once knew. Never take your witness for granted. Count your many blessings, name them one by one at home and wherever you are.

Q. I know that social security contributions went up this past January, but can you tell me what the increase was?
A. The contribution rate increased from 5.2 percent to 5.85 percent for employees and from 7.5 percent to 8 percent for self-employed people. In addition, this rate applies to the first $10,800 in earnings in 1973, instead of the first $9,000.

Most of the increase was necessary to keep the hospital insurance part of Medicare on a sound financial basis and to pay for Medicare protection for disabled people under 65.

"Parting Is Such Sweet Sorrow"

This is the final issue of the Z.C.H.S. Rebel News for this year, and the "sorrow" part is taking leave of all our friends and ending this exciting and challenging year we've had in this our first year with the newspaper. The "sweet" part is all the memories we'll take with us of honoring deserving students, learning and telling more about our school, and expressing students' ideas.

Though we've had complaints and gripes this year, the worthwhile contributions and interest given to the newspaper has far overshadowed any opposition. We especially want to thank Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Stinson for their work in gathering "Young Rebel News" and Mrs. Powell for her faithful role as paper boy every Thursday morning, bringing us our eagerly awaited Clippings. To Mr. Cox, Mrs. Holliday, and Mr. Hanchey, we want to express our true thanks for being such agreeable, nice people to work with and without whom this newspaper would certainly be impossible. We appreciate their making the 25-mile trip every Thursday to school to make pictures and pick up our news.

Our last thanks go to the entire student body and faculty... to the students for their interest and support, and to the faculty and Mr. Green for their patience in allowing us to miss their classes, interrupt their classes, and sometimes simply cause general nuisances of ourselves.

Till next year, The Editors

Will Next Year Find . . .

The periods longer every day? The Annual Staff happy in their new hide-away? The teachers' lounge any more crowded? The football team more victorious? Mrs. Dubose with a boy, or a girl? The same couples still in love? More good corn bread in the lunchroom? The 7th grade more mature? New students at Z.C.H.S. still searching for a reducing diet like they? More students on the honor roll? More wedding bands? The boys' hair still long? A band at Z.C.?

Neater lockers? Some new good-looking boys? The students discovering that their new teachers make them work just as hard as the ones in the past? Mrs. Lee's homeroom with 50 plus?

Everyone learning where the trash cans are? The girls still trying to impress Mr. Ted?

All the students being able to pronounce Mr. Ted's last name? The girls' hair still straight? Mr. Sanders and Mr. Ted having young, good-looking student teachers again?

The mouse in the library moved out? All the typewriters working? Another great student body?

Rebel 'Ritings

7th OF '73
Oh, I am about to tell you a tale.
Of the 7th of '73.
And if you think that poems are stale,
Then you just listen to me!

Oh, this human tornado of '73.
Put all the teachers in a state,
To the students for their interest and support, and to the faculty and Mr. Green for their patience in allowing us to miss their classes, interrupt their classes, and sometimes simply cause general nuisances of ourselves.

Teacher Talk

This week's Teacher Talk features Mrs. Sylvia T. Lowery, librarian and 7th grade English teacher at Z.C.H.S. Mrs. Lowery's husband is Charles Lowery, principal of New Hope Jr. High School. They and their 12-year-old daughter, Lisa, a 6th grader at New Hope, live in the Wilkinstown community.

Mrs. Lowery says that one thing she likes about Z.C.H.S. is the small size which enables everyone to know everyone else so as to work together better. The disadvantage of this, however, is the handicap of not being able to offer a great enough variety of classes.

To improve the school, Mrs. Lowery would like to see the elementary and high school to be separate units with separate facilities and administration, plus a vocational department for high school students. In addition she believes that everyone should show more concern in the care of the school, its materials, and its purpose of educating youth. She feels that Z.C.H.S. has a great small size which enables everyone to know everyone else so as to work together better.

Among her hobbies, Mrs. Lowery lists music, art, reading, crocheting, sewing, crocheting, and eating Z.C.'s corn bread and pies. Her family has a boxer, Ango, and two cats, Nini and Furry Face, who keep her well entertained at home.

Mrs. Lowery added at the close of her interview, "Working with the newspaper this year has been a most enjoyable and rewarding experience, and three sweeter, more cooperative editors I could have found nowhere else but at Z.C."

Dear Mr. Cox:
It is a privilege for me to congratulate the 1973 high school graduates. This is the most exciting period in the history of mankind. It is the most challenging and yet the most dangerous period in the history of civilization. It is a paradoxical that we have the most goods and services and that we have the most opportunities and yet we have the potential for greatest harm to ourselves and to our fellow man. As we face the future we shall set our goals and strive to reach them. The wise choice of our goals in life is tremendously important. There are those people who seem to have no worthy objectives in life. They will drift and their lives will be wrecked. It is a tragedy to see human potential squandered. Drugs, alcohol, immorality and laziness are scourges which will destroy a person and make him a problem to society rather than a contributor to the common good. Establish high ideals and strive to reach them and in the process, happiness will be achieved. Knowledge and the application of new techniques of doing things are increasing at a rapid rate. The wise individual who lives in this age will study continuously and make improvements in himself. He will not stop studying and learning on graduation day, but he should exert every extra effort to improve himself with each passing day. Earning a living and living an abundant life are two things which every high school graduate should be able to accomplish. I have great faith in the ability of the young people in this generation and I congratulate each high school graduate and wish for you success and happiness.

Sincerely yours,
Leroy Brown,
State Superintendent of Education

Greetings To Seniors

From Mrs. McMinn

To: Elba High School Graduates

Greetings and Congratulations! You are about to take a giant step into the stage of life commonly known as adulthood. For many, training, for others it means employment, marriage, travel or perhaps military service, but for all of you it means the beginning of a more responsible role. I hope you will assume this role with all the enthusiasm which you now have and that you will be able to hold on to these qualifications as they are so vital in maintaining a "balance" in our complex society. I hope that you will devote your energy to constructive pursuits and that you will have fortitude, tolerance and understanding which you will enable your generation throughout the world to live together in a true sense of brotherhood.

Best Wishes Extended By Jim Allen

Mr. John F. Cox

Elba, Alabama 36523

Dear Mr. Cox,
I want to thank you for giving me this opportunity to extend my most sincere congratulations to the graduates of Elba, Zion Chapel, New Brockton and Kinston High Schools. It is my hope that these young men and women will not consider this the end of their education, but only another step. Some will go on to college, others to technical schools and still others will go immediately into a job. But no matter what route is taken, each one should know that the learning process is never ended.

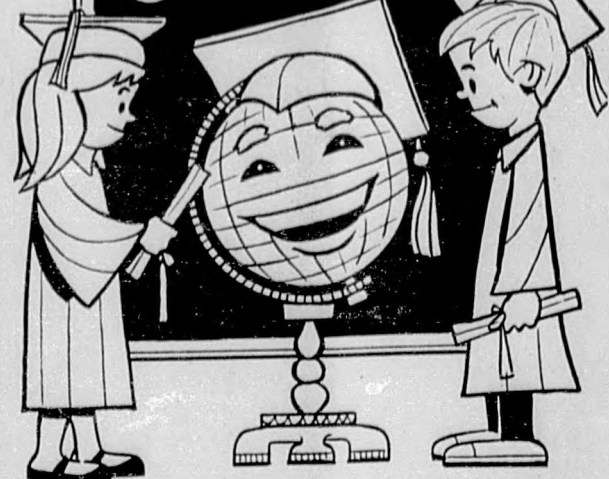

The path to the future lies open ahead and the future is what today's graduates make of it. The single most important quality that today's graduates can offer Coffee County, Alabama and our Country is leadership.

In the community, the church, civic groups, public office and in every aspect of life. Our country needs young men and women who are not afraid to get into the traces and help pull the lead.

I am confident that young Alabamians now graduating will be among those Americans who will help surmount the obstacles and gain peace, happiness and prosperity for themselves, their families and their country.

With very best wishes for future success, I am sincerely yours,
James B. Allen

If your child makes the effort to draw a picture, don't hesitate to pin his work away on the wall, even though he could have done better. Few things give a child more satisfaction than getting the impression that his parents are proud of him.

Thoughtful parents often reward a child for helping with the dishes or doing something especially well by giving him a special treat. While "no jelly" peanut butter bar won't keep him out of every jam, it's a confection that may point him in the right direction!

To Seniors

The Senior Class
Elba High School
Elba, Alabama

During the 1900's young people have demonstrated before, that their beliefs and concerns can be forged into an effective force in building this great state and nation of ours. You are the most informed generation in the history of our country. The 1970's and many decades to come will become more and more your responsibility and your concern. It will be up to you individually and collectively to become active contributors and builders of this state. It is most important that at this particular time in your nation's history that you make every possible effort to use your education, your maturity and your new rights as participating citizens in the democratic process. Your energies and talents will play a major role in shaping our public policy and building a better nation for us all.

One hears much talk these days of the many problems that are confronting not only our state and nation but the pressing problems of the world. We are faced with the very real problem of saving ourselves from ourselves. There are a thousand things I could say to you as you are about to embark on what is truly a monumental journey. Advice seems to abound around the time of graduation so I will restrict myself to this: If there is to be any ecology in our time - let us first save love and compassion. Let us dedicate ourselves to that, and say a prayer to our country and for our people. With best wishes for the future, I am

Sincerely,
William J. Baxley

THE GOVERNOR SENDS HIS DEEP REGARDS

May 11, 1973

Dear Seniors

It is with great pride and pleasure that I extend my congratulations to the graduating seniors of '73.

Graduation is a time of extreme happiness mingled with sadness as friends go their separate ways and the familiar routine of school gives way to college, work, marriage and new friends and new experiences. I trust that the future will be bright for each of you.

All of us in Alabama are proud of our youth and the interest and involvement you have in the affairs in your community and state. We welcome each of you to join with us in working to make a better state and nation. One of you involved in a positive way to work for the betterment of society is worth 500 with us in working to make this state a better place.

Let us hope that by working together we may be able to find the solutions and not to the problems that confront us.

With sincere best wishes,
I am,
Most sincerely,
Jere Beasley

1973 Seniors

Dear graduating seniors: Graduations are certainly an exciting and important time in your life, and I want to share a few minutes of that time with you. Like everyone else, I suppose, I am going to offer a little advice along with my congratulations.

You will soon be leaving the security of high school and entering the world of business, higher education, or some other endeavor. Whatever your interest is and whatever you do, one fact is more and more apparent: THE MORE YOU LEARN, THE MORE YOU EARN!

Even if you do not go to college, never stop learning. Alexander Pope once said, "A LITTLE LEARNING IS A DANGEROUS THING, DRINK DEEP OR TASTE NOT THE PIERIAN SPRING."

You are about to embark on a journey - sometimes easy, sometimes rough. The footprints you leave are permanent and present a visible record of your life to the rest of the world. Choose your path carefully and pursue it to the end.

This year, for the first time, you are legally qualified to vote. I urge you to register to vote. It is your right and your responsibility as a citizen. With all its faults, this is still the greatest country on earth. Be proud of it don't complain about what "those politicians" do.

If you keep those thoughts in mind and always remember that you can be the master of your destiny if you truly want to be, then I believe you will lead a full, and happy and useful life.

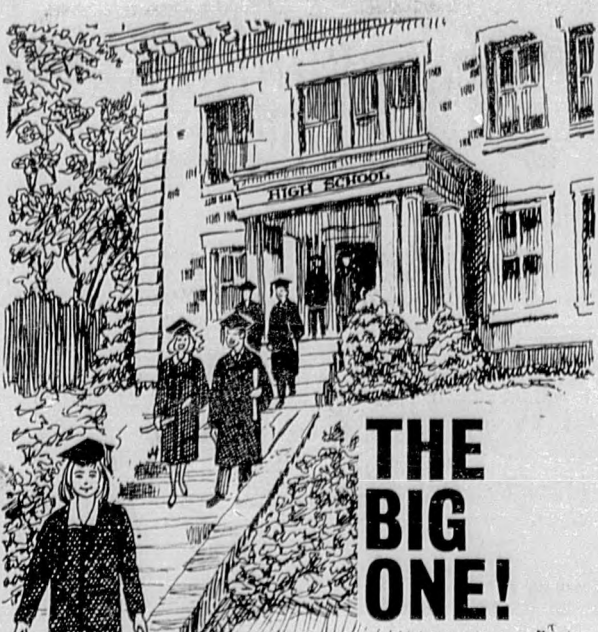

I hope you will always feel free to ask my assistance or offer your views on any subject which comes before the Congress.

Congratulations and Good Luck!
Sincerely yours,
Wm. L. Dickinson

AU Lab To Test Soil Samples

The Auburn University Soil Testing Lab is offering, on a trial basis, a new service to Alabama Farmers, says Tom Cassidy, Coffee County Extension chairman. On request, the lab will test soil samples for organic matter content.

The recommended rate of soil applied herbicides, such as Loran and Soncor, varies with soil organic matter content. So, Cassidy says that a test will be run for organic matter to determine the rate of herbicides to use for their individual fields.

In addition to the standard fee of $2 for a soil test, a charge of $1 per sample will be made for testing organic matter.

A complete soil test report listing lime and fertilizer recommendations, plus organic matter content, will be mailed to the farmer.

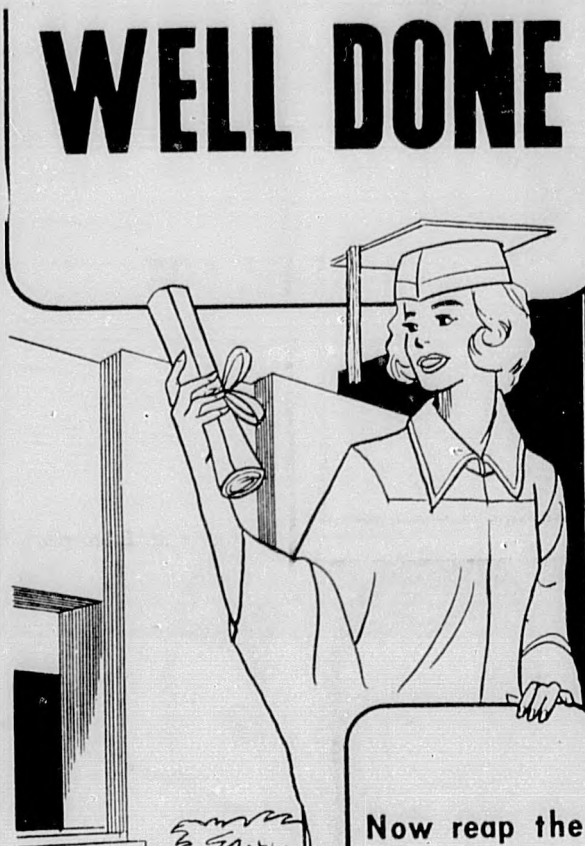

Cassidy points out that soil samples will not be tested for organic matter only, standard soil analysis will also be included.

Supplies for soil testing are available at your county extension office.

Good Luck

You earned the applause of the day.

TORNADO AGAIN HITS ELBA

Before the mess could even be cleared from the tornado of April 18th, the Elba area was hit by another one on Thursday evening, April 26. At about 7:30 p.m. Thursday evening, the twister made shambles of three chicken houses owned by Mr. H. C. Taylor. From the chicken houses it moved Northeastward and completely destroyed the mobile homes of J. L. Hill and his brother, E. H. Hill. J. L. Hill reported that his wife and son were at home but got out of the trailer "when things started hitting it." They had just gotten to the door of a nearby house when Mrs. Hill looked around and her trailer was gone. The twister also grabbed her son, MacArthur and slammed him against a nearby automobile. The boy was shaken up but apparently unharmed by the event. Taylor had 33,000 chickens in his houses before the storm and the survivors, about 30,000, had to be moved quickly to get them to feed and water. Loading crews worked all night and completely loaded the 2-1/2 week-old chicks about 7 p.m. Both the mobile homes were insured as were Taylor's chicken houses, but it was not known at press time if any had sufficient insurance to cover the loss. Bus Wreck Near Elba Hurts One

A Trailways bus ran off the road last Thursday morning just north of Elba. The driver, Michael Howard Morgan of Montgomery, reported that a car turning into the highway in front of him caused the accident. This bus was the third of three charter busses coming to Elba to transport the Elba band to Pensacola, Florida for the weekend.

The accident happened just north of the Elba city limits on the Elba-Troy Highway at the intersection with the county road leading to the Lee Community. There have been several similar accidents at this intersection over the years.

Later in the day it was noted that a bantam hen had her nest in the clover on the roadside and was still on the nest after the bus had passed over her on its journey to the creek. The nest remained intact until wreckers began the job of pulling the bus out of the creek. (continues on page 10)

TO BE 4 LANE TO CITY LIMITS

HIGHWAY 84 WIDENING PROJECT NOW UNDERWAY

Work is underway on improvement of a two-mile section of Highway 84 West in Elba. This widening will begin at the Beaver Dam Creek and extend to the city limits, widening the highway from its present 24 feet to 48 feet with concrete curbs on each side of the roadway providing for four lanes of traffic.

Highway engineer Jim Williams of Elba told this newspaper on Monday that the timetable for constructing a new bridge over Beaver Dam Creek had been stepped up this week and actual construction on the bridge will begin within two weeks. Money for the bridge will come from Governor Wallace's "Death Trap" elimination fund.

Williams noted that his department had not completed plans for widening the highway on this side of the creek because of the former schedule on the bridge. He did say however that his staff would soon have plans for the widening of U.S. 84 all the way from the city limits to Adkinson Street in Elba.
